START

Many Muslims feel a sense of gratitude during Ramadan. They are grateful for the food they enjoy, share what they have with others and give thanks for Allah's strength which helps them when they fast. Now it's your turn to think about gratitude.

What does the word gratitude mean?

When have you shown gratitude for something?

Are you always grateful for what you have?

How does it feel if someone doesn't show gratitude for what you have done?

Why might religious believers show gratitude towards God?

How can you show gratitude?

Your task

Work in small groups to plan and act out two real-life drama scenarios. Make both scenarios similar but show the characters acting with gratitude in one scene and without gratitude in the other. Share and discuss the scenarios with others.
